

A black and white photograph of a family gathered around a Christmas tree. A man in a suit is kneeling on the left, holding a small child. A woman in a striped dress is kneeling next to him, also holding a child. In the foreground, another child is kneeling, and a boy is kneeling on the right. They appear to be playing with toys or gifts on the floor. The background features a large, decorated Christmas tree with lights and ornaments. The entire scene is framed by a white border with a scalloped edge and dark corner mounts.
